

“THE GREAT TWENTY-EIGHT!”

THE 28TH ANNUAL

FAMILY CAFE

FEATURING THE ANNUAL SUMMIT ON DISABILITIES

ONE WEEKEND ONLY!

HYATT REGENCY ORLANDO
9801 International Dr, Orlando, FL

JUNE
12-14, 2026

Dear Family Café Attendees,

On behalf of The Family Café Board of Directors, welcome to The 28th Annual Family Café!

As a Board, we are committed to making The Family Café as strong and effective as possible, so it can continue connecting the families, self-advocates, and organizations it serves with information, resources, and opportunities, and building community across all kinds of disability experiences, today and for years to come.

Even though we serve as The Family Café's Board of Directors, our commitment to The Family Café's mission "to provide individuals with disabilities and their families with an opportunity for Collaboration, Advocacy, Friendship and Empowerment by serving as a facilitator of communication, a space for dialogue and a source of information" is personal. That's because like you, we are self-advocates, family members, and advocates that live the disability experience every day.

Please enjoy everything that our excellent staff has put together for you this weekend at The 28th Annual Family Café. It's a truly remarkable event, and there's nothing quite like it anywhere else. We very much hope you make the most of it, and that you come away energized and informed!

If you'd like to say hello or share some feedback about your experience here at The 28th Annual Family Café, we'll be wearing our signature red chef coats throughout the event, so we'll be easy to find. Feel free to let us know how you're doing, and what we can do to help you get whatever you need out of your time here.

Again, please accept our warmest welcome. Thank you for making The Family Café family a part of yours!

Yours,

The Family Café Board of Directors

"THE GREAT
TWENTY-EIGHT!"

Dear Family Café Attendees,

On behalf of The Family Café Planning Committee, welcome to the three great days of Collaboration, Advocacy, Friendship and Empowerment we call The 28th Annual Family Café!

The Family Café Planning Committee, which is comprised of self-advocates, family members, fellow nonprofits, and state agency partners, has always played a central role in planning The Annual Family Café. It is our mission to provide you and your family with an opportunity to connect, learn, and find the resources you need in a friendly, family-centered environment.

We've done our best to put together our best-ever event with something for everyone here in 2026. Thanks for coming with us on this journey, and for being a part of our family!

As always, the backbone of our agenda is made up of hour-long breakout sessions on all manner of disability-related topics. This year's agenda includes more than 200 sessions scheduled across seven time slots. No matter what type of disability you experience, what stage of life you're in, or what issue interests you, you are sure to find sessions that speak to your needs. Many sessions are organized into "tracks" by subject area: Advocacy, Assistive Technology, Birth to Age Five, Dads, Disaster Preparedness, Employment, Guardianship, Mental Health, Military Families, Recreation, Smart Money, and Youth. Just look for the graphic icons by the titles in the program!

We also have a great series of keynotes in store. On Friday, we'll welcome NPR reporter and investigative journalists Joseph Shapiro. On Saturday, join us for a screening of Patrice: The Movie and a conversation with the filmmakers and cast of this award-winning disability documentary. Sunday will feature Kevin Spencer, Ph.D., award-winning performing artist, author, and educator, and leading authority on the educational and therapeutic uses of magic.

In addition to our series of keynotes, The Annual Family Café will once again include The Annual Summit on Disabilities, moderated by our long-time supporter, former Senate President Bill Galvano. This is your chance to get engaged and hear from statewide leaders and policymakers about their vision for Florida's disability-serving systems.

When you're not in a session, enjoying a keynote, or taking part in the Summit, please take some time to visit the dozens of booths in our Exhibit Hall, which feature a wide array of organizations, including self-advocate owned and operated Micro-Enterprises. We also encourage you to enjoy adaptive recreation activities provided by our friends from SportsAbility and the Book Fair in the Exhibit Hall, visit the many activity rooms we have set up, and check out all of the self-advocate performances ongoing throughout the event. And definitely make time to check out our newest addition, our Disability History Timeline and Media Room!

We've done our best to bring together the information and resources you need in a space that celebrates the disability experience and families like yours. We hope The 28th Annual Family Café leaves you energized, empowered, and inspired! As always, please let us know if there is anything we can do to serve you better!

Yours,

The Family Café Planning Committee

Robert Asztalos

agency for persons with disabilities
State of Florida

Dear Family Café Attendees,

Welcome to the 28th Annual Family Café — the nation's largest statewide cross-disability conference. This event continues to bring together individuals with disabilities, families, advocates, providers, and community partners from across Florida for meaningful learning, connection, and collaboration.

The Agency for Persons with Disabilities (APD) is proud to participate in this longstanding gathering that provides the disability community with valuable information, resources, and networking opportunities. Through home and community-based services, APD provides Floridians with developmental disabilities with services to live their lives to the fullest measure, as independently as possible in their communities.

Conferences like the Family Café reflect the strength of Florida's disability community — bringing people together to share knowledge, build partnerships, and promote opportunities in education, health, employment, housing, and advocacy. All of this is to better the lives of Floridians with developmental disabilities. I plan to walk the halls of the event, so please stop me and let me know how APD is doing serving our clients.

Thank you for your continued commitment to supporting individuals with disabilities across our state. We look forward to engaging with you throughout the conference.

Sincerely,

Robert Asztalos
Director

June 2026

Dear Family Café participants,

On behalf of the Agency for Health Care Administration, welcome to this year's Family Café. This gathering is a treasured tradition, one that celebrates the strength, resilience, and leadership of individuals with developmental disabilities and the families who stand beside them.

The Agency's commitment is simple and unwavering: to enhance access to care, reduce barriers, and ensure that services are easy to find, easy to navigate, and responsive to what matters most to you. We are focused on strengthening the pathways to care across Florida so that wherever you live, you can connect to providers who understand your goals and deliver the right supports at the right time.

We also believe that care should be community-based. The services we advance are designed to meet people where they are and help them thrive at home, at school, at work, and in the neighborhoods they love. When we align services around the whole person and family, we improve health, independence, and quality of life.

Your advocacy continues to shape the future of care in Florida. By sharing your experiences, ideas, and priorities, you help us identify what's working and where we can do better. Thank you for speaking up, showing up, and lifting each other up. Your voice guides our work, and your partnership makes our progress possible.

Thank you to The Family Café for creating a welcoming space to learn, connect, and build community. We are honored to support this event and to join you in championing access, inclusion, and opportunity for all Floridians.

With appreciation,

THE 28TH ANNUAL

FAMILY CAFÉ

STATE OF FLORIDA DIVISION OF EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

Ron DeSantis, Governor Kevin Guthrie, Executive Director

Dear Family Café Participants:

On behalf of the Florida Division of Emergency Management (FDEM), it is a privilege to celebrate this milestone—the 28th Annual Family Café, the "Great 28." For nearly three decades, the Family Café has brought together families, caregivers, advocates, and state partners to share knowledge, strengthen connections, and expand access to essential resources. At FDEM, our mission is rooted in preparedness, accessibility, and community. We are committed to ensuring all Floridians, especially those with unique needs, have the support necessary to navigate any disaster. I encourage you to take full advantage of this comprehensive collection of resources designed to assist you before, during, and after emergencies.

The 2026 Atlantic Hurricane Season begins June 1 and runs through November 30. Preparedness is an ongoing responsibility—just one storm can change everything. Staying connected to resources and having a clear plan can make all the difference when an emergency arises. Stay informed by signing up for emergency alerts at FloridaDisaster.org/AlertFlorida and be sure to have multiple ways to receive updated information. The Special Needs Registry is another available resource that helps Floridians prepare for the unexpected. This online registry connects residents with local emergency management and health officials, helping first responders better understand and meet individual needs during an emergency. Taking a few moments to register can make a significant difference in how assistance is provided when it is needed most. Visit FloridaDisaster.org/SNR or reach out to your local county emergency management office to take advantage of this resource and get connected with your community.

Building a disaster supply kit is a critical step in disaster preparation. Each household member should have at least seven days' worth of essentials like nonperishable food, water, a weather radio, medications and devices, having backup batteries or alternative power sources is especially important. For a full disaster supply kit checklist and additional preparedness resources, explore FloridaMakeAPlan.com to ensure you

FDEM is proud to stand alongside you—not just during hurricane season, but every day. As you participate in this year's Family Café, we hope you gain valuable insights, discover new resources, and feel empowered by the strength of this community. The "Great 28" reflects shared commitment—28 years of trust, advocacy, connection and progress. Remember, your local emergency management office is always a trusted resource for guidance tailored to your community. Together, Florida is ready and resilient!

Sincerely,

Kevin Guthrie

June 12, 2026

Dear Conference Attendees:

Welcome to the 28th Annual Family Café and Governor's Summit on Disabilities. This innovative event brings together individuals with disabilities and their families to share information, connect with resources and build meaningful partnerships. The Florida Department of Education (FDOE) remains committed to ensuring that all students have access to high-quality education options for Florida's nearly 3.2 million students.

Florida continues to prioritize protecting parental rights, investing in educators, expanding access to services and improving outcomes for students with disabilities.

Florida remains a national leader in education, as demonstrated by continued performance:

- The high school graduation rate of Florida's students with disabilities continues to increase, with 89.1% graduating in 2024-25. This is an increase of 23.1 percentage points since 2016-17.
- Florida was ranked #1 overall for the fourth year in a row by the Heritage Foundation on the 2025 Education Freedom Report Card. Florida remains the top-ranked state overall. Florida lawmakers have expanded education freedom and promoted parents' rights while creating laudable returns on investment and transparency for taxpayers.
- Florida topped the nation on the 2025 EdChoice Friedman Index, reflecting the state's expansive school choice programs and the availability of education savings accounts (ESA) for families to use for additional educational services.
- The center for Education Reform ranked Florida #1 on the Parent Power Index for the fourth consecutive year.

The Family Empowerment Scholarship for Students with Unique Abilities (FES-UA), established in 2021, continues to provide families of students with disabilities, as young as 3 years of age, with access to additional educational resources. Through this program:

- Families may receive a personal educational savings account, which allows funds to be used for a variety of approved educational services and supports tailored to their student's needs.
- An ESA can fund private school tuition and fees, online learning programs, private tutoring, specialized services, eligible post-secondary schooling, and other approved customized learning materials.

325 W. Gaines Street | Tallahassee, FL 32399-0400 | 850-245-0505
www.fldoe.org

Anastasios Kamoutas

- Families apply and renew annual participation in an FES-UA through one of the approved scholarship funding organizations responsible for determining eligibility, awarding and distributing funding to eligible student accounts, and approving eligible expenditures.
- For the 2024-25 school year, 105,431 students received an FES-UA, with an average scholarship worth approximately $10,000.00.
- Applications for the 2026-27 school year are now available. Families can apply through the Academic Achievement Accessible (AAA) Scholarship Foundation, Step Up For Students, or Sunshine State Kids. Information on the eligibility requirements, ESA and specialized services is as follows:
 - Eligibility requirements: Students must be 3 or 4 years old, or eligible to enroll in kindergarten through 12th grade in a public school in Florida. They must also have an individual educational plan or a disability diagnosis from a licensed physician or psychologist.
 - ESA: The scholarship provides access to an ESA, which functions like a flexible bank account. Funds can be used for tuition, therapies, tutoring and other services.
 - Specialized services: Approved providers include licensed speech-language pathologists, occupational therapists, physical therapists and other providers.

Florida continues to provide opportunities for families to make educational choices that best meet the needs of their children. Through strong partnerships with families, educators and community organizations, FDOE remains focused on improving outcomes and supporting every student's success.

Florida is the Education State and, without question, students, parents and teachers benefit from our state's robust array of education options. I hope you enjoy the next three days, gathering new information and resources through breakout sessions, the exhibit hall and keynote speakers.

Sincerely,

 Anastasios Kamoutas

FAMILY CAFÉ

"THE GREAT TWENTY-EIGHT!"

TRACKED SESSIONS

Some of the sessions at this year's event have been organized into "tracks" based on subject. This key will help you to identify "tracked" sessions.

 ADVOCACY	 ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY	 BIRTH TO AGE FIVE	 DADS	 DISASTER PREPAREDNESS	 EMPLOYMENT
 GUARDIANSHIP AND ALTERNATIVES	 MENTAL HEALTH	 MILITARY FAMILIES	 RECREATION	 SMART MONEY	 YOUTH

Sessions presented in Spanish, or with Spanish-speaking presenters, are printed in RED. Sesiones que se presentan en español, o con el español que hablan los presentadores, están impresos en color ROJO.

The family changing room is located in Silver Spring I. Sign language (ASL) interpreters are available in Silver Spring II.

Please be advised that The Annual Family Café can create a loud, active environment that may be over-stimulating to some individuals with sensory issues.

Uncovering Injustices And Policy Failures

JOSEPH SHAPIRO

"THE GREAT
TWENTY-EIGHT!"

As a Correspondent on NPR's Investigations Unit, Joe Shapiro writes stories for NPR's popular news shows that uncover injustices and policy failures – and then have impact.

After his 2021 stories exposed how states take the Social Security checks of foster youth, who then leave foster care broke, 31 states and municipalities ended or modified the practice. A series on campus sexual assault (2010) led to new Obama Administration guidance to universities and a series on the epidemic of sexual assault of people with intellectual disabilities (2018) led to laws in several states.

Another series exposed a little-known practice of prisons to put two men into tiny "double-cell solitary confinement" – locked down 23 or 24 hours a day in a cell the size of a parking space – and how that led to a rise in prisoner-on-prisoner violence and killings. As a result, the federal government closed units at two prisons (2016, 2022). Shapiro's stories on the way rising court fines and fees create an unequal system of justice for the poor (2014) created an early understanding of the rise of "modern day debtors' prisons." Stories with on the questionable science used to convict people of "shaken-baby syndrome" (2012) helped free two people from prison.

Shapiro is known for his ground-breaking reporting on disability and is the author of "No Pity: People with Disabilities Forging a New Civil Rights Movement" (1993), considered a "classic" of disability literature. For NPR, a series on the failure of the states and federal government to provide home and community based long-term care (2010) exposed the growing number of young people living in nursing homes. And his story on a quadriplegic teen stuck in a hospital for six years pushed officials in North Carolina to find attendant and nursing staff and an apartment for her (2024, 2025).

Shapiro switched from print to radio reporting when he came to NPR in November 2001. He spent nine years on NPR's Science Desk, covering health, aging, disability and children's and family issues, including the mental and physical health issues of injured veterans returning from Iraq and Afghanistan. In 2010, he joined NPR's newly formed Investigations Unit.

Among honors for his investigative journalism, Shapiro received Peabody, duPont-Columbia, Polk, Robert F. Kennedy, Edward R. Murrow, Sigma Delta Chi and other awards and was a Pulitzer Prize finalist. Before coming to NPR, Shapiro worked at U.S. News & World Report as a social policy reporter, the magazine's Rome bureau chief, politics reporter, White House correspondent and congressional reporter.

He lives in Washington, D.C., where he grew up, and is a graduate of Carleton College and the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism.

For Dads: Getting Involved

Bayhill 17

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

This workshop is designed to help dads understand some of the issues that can negatively impact their involvement with their children, help them recognize and identify specific reasons they may not be participating, and identify strategies to help them become more involved in their children's lives.

Learn How Black Families Mitigate Disability Care Disparities: Identifying Resources in Florida

Bayhill 18

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

There are many barriers to quality care for Black families with disabilities. Poverty can impact access to care and social services. Black children are too often misdiagnosed with behavioral problems rather than learning disabilities. Treatment is often delayed because of a late diagnosis of autism. There are very few culturally adapted treatments for autism and service providers lack cultural training. Learning to identify these issues can help remove those barriers and improve the quality of care.

Supporting Students who are Blind/Visually Impaired (B/VI) & Deaf/Hard of Hearing (DHH)

Bayhill 19

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Join experts from FIMC-VI and RMTC-DHH as they share resources and creative ideas designed to support children who are blind, visually impaired, deaf, hard of hearing, or have combined sensory needs. This session invites families into a world of possibilities where access means more than accommodation. Explore environments, unlock communication strategies, and dive into assistive technologies that spark independence and confidence. Learn how to champion your child's success, collaborate with educators, and raise expectations that inspire growth. Whether your child navigates the world by touch, sound, or both, this presentation equips you with practical tools and uplifting guidance to help them thrive.

Facilitated IEPs: Building Collaborative Partnerships

Bayhill 20

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

An effective way to build collaborative partnerships with your child's IEP team is through Facilitative Practices. In a Facilitated IEP meeting, you can build partnerships, reach true consensus and agreements, focus the IEP on the needs of the student, and exercise effective communication and reflective listening. Parents too can feel capable to have a voice, and manage conflict. This session will help empower you as a parent to take an active role in your child's IEP through some strategies we will share during the session.

Hope in Action: The Hope Florida Initiative

Bayhill 21

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

In Fall 2023, First Lady Casey DeSantis announced the expansion of Hope Florida to serve individuals with disabilities. This powerful panel will feature APD Hope Navigators, who will share firsthand accounts and inspiring testimonials about the program's impact across the state. Through a unique model of personalized support and community collaboration, Hope Florida empowers individuals by helping them identify their personal goals, remove barriers, and create a customized plan for achieving independence and integration. Join us as we explore how this initiative is transforming lives and helping Floridians realize their full potential.

Dispute Resolution and Monitoring (DRM) Alternative Resolution Options

Bayhill 22

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

The presentation is designed to assist parents with the available alternative resolution options, such as state-sponsored mediation and state-facilitated individual educational plan (SFIEP), to resolve disagreements between parents and schools about children's educational programs and support services. State-sponsored mediation is a voluntary process for parties to resolve a dispute and execute a legally binding written agreement.

Inclusion and Advocacy in the Church

Bayhill 23

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Have you ever felt like you don't belong, or people do not see you for your full potential? Eighty percent of people and families with disabilities do not attend church because they feel like they do not belong. The truth is that the church is a place where we should all grow and learn. This workshop will include firsthand experiences and ideas of educating churches in the use of culturally correct terminology when speaking to and about people with disabilities. It will also discuss how to bridge the gap in understanding between the church community and individuals with diverse abilities and their families.

Unbridled Hope: Finding Freedom Through Therapeutic Riding

Bayhill 25

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

In this session, we're diving into the importance of therapeutic horseback riding as a part of recovery and the journey of working through disability. Therapeutic riding has encouraged Catherine and Jason to push the limits of their recovery by participating in Special Olympics and fun shows at their barn. It's a reminder that healing can take many forms, and sometimes, it comes with four hooves, a gentle nudge, and the quiet rhythm of a horse's stride.

Special GALS: Supporting Girls and Women with Disabilities Across a Lifetime

Bayhill 26

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Special GALS is a framework that centers girls and women with disabilities as whole people with evolving social, emotional, and wellness needs across the lifespan. G-Growth, A-Advocacy, L-Life Skills, and S-Social Connection guide this approach, emphasizing dignity, respect, health, and protection at every stage of life. This presentation explains why gender-responsive advocacy matters and how families and providers can support communication, regulation, healthcare, and meaningful participation. Attendees will gain practical strategies, reflection tools, and resource ideas to help disabled girls and women live safer, healthier, and more connected lives.

Let Them Be Superheroes: Empowering Identity in Young Adults on the Autism Spectrum

Bayhill 27

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

What happens when we stop trying to make autistic young adults fit into the world, and instead help them build a world where they can shine? In this uplifting and practical session, parent and advocate Teresia Dulaney shares how supporting her son's creation of his superhero persona "Tommy Man" transformed his confidence, communication, and sense of purpose. Through relatable stories and actionable steps, attendees will learn how to help autistic individuals discover their talents, celebrate their identity, and pursue meaningful passions. This talk offers inspiration, hope, and real-world guidance for parents, caregivers, and educators.

EFMP Respite Care

Bayhill 28

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

This session will introduce EFMP Respite Care, a vital support program for military families caring for children with moderate to profound disabilities. We will discuss the program's purpose, which entails providing temporary relief to caregivers by connecting families with qualified, thoroughly vetted providers. The presentation will cover eligibility criteria for active-duty Navy and Air Force EFMP families, emphasizing the importance of safety, provider training, and ongoing quality assurance. Attendees will learn about the operational aspects, including the scheduling process, policies, and communication protocols that ensure reliable and professional care. The session will highlight the benefits of EFMP Respite Care in reducing caregiver stress, enhancing family resilience, and promoting a balanced family dynamic. We will conclude with resources for families seeking further assistance and how the program supports the overall well-being of military families.

Building Hope & Skills: Helping Families Understand Behavior Change

Bayhill 32

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

This presentation is designed to empower families by bridging the gap between behavioral science and everyday parenting. “Building Hope & Skills” introduces accessible strategies grounded in Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) that help caregivers understand the “why” behind their child’s behavior and learn practical tools to support positive change. Through relatable examples, interactive discussion, and evidence-based guidance, participants will explore how to identify the function of behavior, teach replacement skills, and reinforce desired outcomes in ways that promote growth and reduce frustration at home. The session also emphasizes the emotional side of behavior, helping parents shift from feeling overwhelmed to confident, hopeful, and equipped to foster meaningful progress in their child’s development. Attendees will leave with a clear framework for: understanding the ABCs of behavior (Antecedent, Behavior, Consequence); recognizing the role of motivation and reinforcement; implementing proactive strategies to prevent problem behaviors; and promoting skill-building through consistent, compassionate teaching. This presentation is ideal for parents, educators, and professionals seeking to collaborate with families in creating supportive, structured environments that encourage both learning and connection.

The Science of Self-Care

Bayhill 33

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Research shows that caregivers may be at risk of experiencing negative effects from the emotional challenges of supporting children who have experienced trauma or distress. This session addresses both the rewarding and difficult aspects of caring for children with these experiences, offering practical strategies to help prevent burnout and compassion fatigue. It aims to provide attendees with useful tools and evidence-based resources to manage the emotional strain of compassion fatigue, burnout, vicarious trauma, and secondary trauma. Additionally, it focuses on ways to increase compassion satisfaction and enhance overall well-being. This presentation provides research-based information to support caregivers and parents and is not intended for medical diagnosis or advice.

Becoming Adult(ish): Disability & Independence

Celebration 1

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Growing up with a disability can come with big changes, and big questions about the future. This session is all about helping teens and young adults get ready for the move from childhood into adulthood with confidence. We’ll talk about real-life topics like speaking up for yourself, making your own choices, planning for school or work after graduation, volunteering, and building independence at your own pace. Through honest conversations and relatable examples, this session reminds youth that there is no “one right path” to adulthood, and that support, strengths, and self-belief matter just as much as skills.

Tell Your Story Through Comics: A Creative Workshop for Youth

Celebration 2

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Storytelling and comics open spaces of artistic freedom and community. Join a relaxed storytelling circle, then workshop ways to turn your stories into comics. Stimming, ASL, Spanish speakers, and Augmentative and Alternative Communication welcome. Tell/draw a story about anything you like, but suggestions include: “What’s something you’re proud of?” “What’s magic to you?” “What parts of your background give you strength?” “What do you worry about?” “What do you wish everyone understood about young people’s mental health?” This session is hosted by Betsy Wheeler, a professor, comics writer, and inclusive theater director who loves making art with other disabled and neurodivergent people.

Increasing Access and Literacy Through Adapted Books

Celebration 3

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

People of ALL abilities deserve the right to read, interact with text, and share meaningful literary experiences. Adapted books bridge the gap to literacy by transforming traditional texts into accessible, engaging tools for ALL learners, especially individuals with disabilities.

In this session, participants will explore the purpose and power of adapted books, learn about the research behind them, and see examples featuring simplified language, visual supports, tactile elements, and interactive components. These adaptations increase access, engagement, language development, and comprehension. Come discover how adapted books can transform literacy instruction and open doors for every learner across ages, abilities, and settings.

Long-Term Care Planning for Parents/Guardians of Individuals with Special Needs

Celebration 5

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Parents of individuals with special needs often spend decades focused on caregiving, advocacy, and protecting their child's future. What is frequently overlooked is how those same caregiving demands can increase a parent's own likelihood of needing long-term care later in life. This presentation helps families understand why long-term care planning is not optional, but essential, for protecting both the caregiver and the person they support. The session explains what long-term care truly is, how and when care is needed, and why parents of special needs children face unique physical, emotional, and financial risks as they age. Drawing on caregiver health research, the presentation connects daily caregiving responsibilities to higher rates of fatigue, injury, and chronic health issues. Attendees learn how long-term care coverage can preserve assets, reduce the burden placed on other children, and help ensure continued support for a special needs trust. The presentation compares reimbursement and cash-based benefit models, highlighting the flexibility of cash benefits to support care at home, family caregivers, and evolving care needs. The core message is simple: long-term care planning is not about predicting where care will happen, but about protecting choice, dignity, and family stability. When parents plan for their own care, they strengthen the long-term security of their entire family.

Making Sense out of Sensory Processing

Celebration 8

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Many children are identified as having “sensory processing difficulties.” This may be evident by sensory seeking or avoidant behaviors, overreaction, or under-reaction to stimuli. “What does this mean and why does my child behave in certain ways?” “How do I help my child regulate and feel comfortable in different situations?” These are questions parents and caregivers ask about children of all ages. As occupational therapists and early intervention specialists, we will help explain the basics of early sensory development and discuss strategies that may help families create optimal sensory environments and support regulation so family routines run smoothly.

Pathways to Possibility: Planning for Successful Post-Secondary Education for Students with Intellectual Disabilities

Celebration 10

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

This session guides families in preparing students with intellectual disabilities for college, starting in middle school. Attendees will explore strategies for fostering self-advocacy, promoting academic and social skill development, and setting high expectations. Learn actionable strategies for collaborating with middle and high school educators to create personalized transition plans. Attendees will gain practical tools to empower their children to successfully matriculate and thrive in post-secondary environments.

Session objectives include identifying early planning strategies for post-secondary education beginning in middle school; describing effective collaboration techniques between families and school staff during transitions; and exploring ways to build student self-advocacy and independence for college readiness.

Badge and Blueprint: A Retired Officer’s Guide to Safe Interactions for Autistic Youth

Celebration 14

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

This session bridges the gap between law enforcement protocols and the lived experiences of autistic individuals. Presented by a retired police officer and Director of Learning Differences, we address the disparity in satisfaction regarding police encounters. Attendees receive a practical “blueprint” for safer outcomes, focusing on how officers misinterpret behaviors like stimming or echolalia as resistance. We explore the “Justice League” advocate model, discuss safety strategies for disabled youth, and provide families with proactive tools to prevent misunderstandings. Our goal is to replace fear with actionable knowledge and hands-on de-escalation strategies for every Florida family.

Self-Advocacy: How to Help Children Speak Up for Themselves

Celebration 15

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

Self-advocacy is speaking up for yourself and your rights by communicating your thoughts, needs, and preferences. Children can self-advocate by saying no to things they don’t want, making decisions about what they do want, and asking for help when they need it. If you help your child develop the skills they need for self-advocacy when they’re young, they will be better prepared to advocate for themselves as they get older. When your child turns 18, your parental rights will be automatically transferred to them, unless guardianship has been established. This session will help parents learn how they can teach their children to self-advocate, which will prepare them for their future beyond high school.

Creating Opportunities for the Wow

Coral Spring II
11:30 am to 12:30 pm

This workshop focuses on how to create the community we want for our kids. Examples include community opportunities like Scouts and FIRST Robotics, and how to take a leadership role to create the space we envision and need. Both of these organizations are full of opportunities and are adaptive in so many ways. They provide practical skills, fun, social opportunities, and wow after wow of unexpected delights. I have been both a Scout leader (20 years) and a robotics coach (12 years). I would love to share how those and other community resources have made a huge impact on not just my son, but so many others with and without disabilities. I will also share the benefits of taking a leadership role in any organization that fits your family’s interests - while also removing the fear factor.

Small Movements, Big Shifts

Manatee Spring II
11:30 am to 12:30 pm

This session offers a gentle, fully accessible chair-based embodiment experience that demonstrates how small, intentional movements can create meaningful shifts in the nervous system. Rather than focusing on performance, flexibility, or strength, participants are guided to listen to their body’s cues and explore regulation through choice, pacing, and awareness. Drawing from trauma-informed yoga, somatic practices, and neuroscience made accessible, this experience supports participants in reconnecting with their bodies as sources of safety and information without pressure, force, or expectation. This session is for individuals experiencing chronic stress, overwhelm, or fatigue, as well as caregivers, educators, and helping professionals, and will be helpful for anyone who feels disconnected from their body and people seeking gentle, practical tools for regulation. Participants will leave with a felt understanding of how small movements support nervous-system regulation, chair-based practices they can use in everyday life, increased trust in their body’s signals, and a sense of agency and choice in how they move and rest.

Florida
community care

Florida Community Care (FCC) is the managed care plan selected by the state to operate Florida's Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Comprehensive Managed Care (ICMC) Program for adults (18+) with IDD — now serving individuals statewide. This session will highlight how FCC coordinates access to medical, behavioral, and long-term care services, including pharmacy, meals, transportation, and more. We'll also explore the Florida Participant Direction Option (PDO), which allows Medicaid recipients to self-direct their own care and services. FCC's leadership team will share insights from the field and discuss what statewide expansion means for the future of IDD care in Florida. Whether you're a family member, caregiver, provider, or advocate, this session will help you understand how FCC supports independence, choice, and well-being.

Connected Caregiving Across Distance After Loss or Change

Peacock Spring

11:30 am to 12:30 pm

When a family's caregiving structure changes due to loss, illness, or separation, care does not end, it evolves. In this session, Mary Burton and Bridgit Burton Brown share how they partner across state lines after the passing of a parent, with Mary becoming the sole in-home caregiver to a minor child with a disability. Through real-life examples, they explore how families can share advocacy, decision-making, and emotional support using communication tools, technology, and intentional planning. Participants will leave with practical strategies for sustaining caregiving partnerships, even when family members are not physically together.

This session will illustrate how public and private entities can partner to provide inclusive PAID training opportunities for individuals with disabilities. The program director will be joined by Hyatt Area HR Director, Mark Havard, who will provide the "Hyatt Perspective." We will also have one or two program graduates who will share their professional journey. This Hands On @ Hyatt Hospitality Training Program began in June 1998 at one Hyatt Hotel in Tampa. The program expanded through the years, and is now operating at Hyatt Hotels in FL, MN, CO, CA and WA State. It is made possible through a unique partnership with Hyatt, Vocational Rehabilitation, local school districts, and service providers.

Role Playing Session

Barrel Spring II

3:30 pm to 6:00 pm

It's time for good old fashioned imaginative play – no video games or technology. We will again create a story for the group to engage in. Veteran role-players and newcomers are all welcome, as the adventure will require all participants to engage with their unique strengths. This event is for all youth, although some may benefit from having a caregiver present as the tasks may require support. This event is delivered by John Ferrone, a 45-year veteran Dungeon Master, who will facilitate the adventure so that everyone can be involved. Bring your dungeon dice, and if you don't have a set, we'll have some for you. (Please note: this session is scheduled to last two and a half hours to allow time for game play.)

Dads in a Mom's World: Showing Up, Finding Our Way, and Getting It Done

Bayhill 17

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

This session offers a candid and often humorous look at life as a dad navigating the special needs world – a space largely shaped by moms who excel at the day-to-day work. While the goals are shared, dads often experience the journey differently, learning as they go and finding their own way to contribute. Drawing from real-life experience as a single father, Rich shares challenges, missteps, and lessons learned while building confidence, advocacy, and partnership. This session validates dads, honors moms, and reminds us that when we respect each other's strengths, our children benefit most.

Music and Students Who Are Deaf/Hard of Hearing

Bayhill 18

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

Music has a powerful ability to connect people, elicit emotions, solidify memories, and change moods. The ability to appreciate music is not limited to those with auditory access. Participants will receive information on music and consumers who are deaf/hard of hearing. Common barriers to music instruction and components of Universal Design for Learning, as well as specialized accommodations for students who are deaf/hard of hearing to access music, will be addressed. Strategies for increasing accessibility for listeners of varying ages and hearing levels will be shared, as well as famous musicians who are deaf or hard of hearing.

Helping Our Children Become Superheroes Against Sexual Harm

Bayhill 19

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

This session will introduce families, caregivers, advocates, teachers, mental health practitioners, and human service professionals to proactive solutions that help children become superheroes in order to combat sexual harm. Learning objectives include examining the statistics of the silent epidemic, identifying grooming tactics of abusers for various age groups, determining the signs of victimization, understanding the importance of reporting to law enforcement, describing the strategies for prevention that allow youth to become proactive against sexual harm, adopting the appropriate responses to victims that report their sex assault, and encouraging the need for mental health support.

Child Abuse Investigation in a Family with a Special Needs Child

Bayhill 20

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

This presentation explores child abuse investigations involving families of children with disabilities, grounded in both professional practice and lived experience. Drawing on my work as a Child Protective Investigator with the Manatee County Sheriff's Office and DCF, and my current role as an ASD self-contained teacher, I examine how heightened caregiving demands - limited respite, sleep deprivation, financial strain, and social isolation - can contribute to caregiver burnout. Behavioral and communication challenges may further elevate stress, increasing the risk of maltreatment. The presentation emphasizes prevention, empathy, and systems of support for families.

Hear the Roar: Advocating Like a Mama Bear

Bayhill 21

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

This empowering and lighthearted session – sprinkled with humor and real-life insight – equips parents and caregivers with tools to confidently advocate for their child's needs. Participants will learn how to stay organized, build connections, navigate gatekeepers, and know when and how to escalate concerns. The presentation includes practical tips for collaborating with professionals, including medical professionals and therapists, plus a tool to use during appointments and medical emergencies. Filled with encouragement and laughter, it reminds parents they're never alone on this journey.

Understanding Specially Designed Instruction (SDI) and Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS) for Students with Disabilities

Bayhill 22

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

This professional learning session provides a foundational overview of Specially Designed Instruction (SDI) and the Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS). Participants will learn the purpose of each framework and how they support students with disabilities in accessing instruction and special education services. The session will clarify key terminology, outline core components, and highlight best practices for the implementation of SDI and MTSS. Educators and families will leave with a shared understanding of how these systems work together to support student success.

Understanding Sensory Challenges

Bayhill 23

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

This presentation is designed to help parents and caregivers gain insight into sensory challenges experienced by individuals and learn effective strategies for support. Together, we will explore sensory responses and behavioral responses, two reactions that may appear similar but originate from different causes. Participants will gain clarity on how to identify sensory-driven behavior versus behavior-based reactions and learn practical ways to respond with compassion and intention. By the end of the session, you will have strategies and tools to better support individuals with diverse needs across home, school, and community settings.

Stronger Than You Know: A Mother's Guide to Surviving, Advocating, and Staying Whole in the World of Complex Disabilities

Bayhill 24

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

Mothering a disabled child can bring profound love, profound exhaustion, and a constant feeling of living in crisis mode. In this honest and uplifting workshop, attorney and author Nancy Ferraro shares her journey raising a child with complex disabilities rooted in early trauma – and the emotional, practical, and legal strategies that helped her survive. This session provides tools for self-preservation, advocacy, boundary-setting, and rebuilding identity beyond caregiving. Moms will leave feeling seen, validated, and equipped with real-world strategies for navigating systems, protecting themselves, and sustaining hope.

Stories That Connect Us: An Inclusive Book Club Model For Every Ability

Bayhill 25

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

Imagine a book club where stories come alive, friendships grow, and everyone has a voice. The Next Chapter Book Club offers an accessible model for literacy and community engagement. This presentation gives attendees a hands-on look at how the program works and how to bring it to their communities. It provides individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities a fun, meaningful way to participate in reading while building skills, confidence, and friendship and is especially geared toward older teens and adults participating. This session shows families how to partner with local libraries to create inclusive book clubs that strengthen community, reduce isolation, and foster lasting connections.

Still Dreaming: Living a Full Life on Your Own Terms

Bayhill 26

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

Living with a disability often means navigating expectations shaped not only by society, but also by well-intentioned families and caregivers who are trying to protect, plan, or prepare. This workshop invites individuals with disabilities to explore how external expectations can quietly shape internal limits – and how to reclaim the right to dream, choose, and grow. Through mindset shifts and practical reflection tools, participants will redefine success on their own terms and design a life rooted in autonomy, purpose, and joy. For many individuals with disabilities, expectations are shaped early – by systems, culture, and often by loving families and caregivers who are doing their best in an uncertain world. Over time, these expectations can unintentionally narrow what feels possible, influencing how we see our future, our capabilities, and even our right to dream. This workshop is designed for individuals with disabilities who want to reconnect with their own vision for a meaningful life. Together, we'll explore how protective instincts, lowered expectations, and societal narratives can become internal limits – and how to gently examine, challenge, and reshape them. Grounded in lived experience and practical tools, this session offers a supportive space to clarify personal values, expand possibility, and design a life that fits who you are – not just who others imagine you to be. Participants will recognize how external expectations – including from family and caregivers – can influence personal goals, learn mindset shifts that support autonomy, confidence, and self-direction, explore ways to honor support while still claiming personal agency, clarify what “living your best life” means personally, not collectively, and leave with tools to continue dreaming and goal-setting in realistic, empowering ways.

Preparing for Marriage with Disability

Bayhill 30

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

Society has largely ignored the possibility of someone with a disability getting married, let alone having a successful marriage. Challenges exist; they do in every marriage. Disability may amplify some, like the Social Security marriage penalty. Often, clergy and counselors have little to no experience in helping someone with a disability prepare for marriage. In this session, you'll learn from a couple married 30 years about what worked in their preparation, and what they wish they'd done.

Talking About the Elephant in the Room: Suicide and How We Can Lower Our Risk

Bayhill 31

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

As an AuDHD person, one of the biggest concerns I have for our community is the significantly higher rate of suicide. Autistics are nine times more likely to die by suicide than the general population, and ADHD makes that a fivefold increased risk of dying by suicide. What might be contributing to this discrepancy, and more importantly, what can we do to lower that risk?

Preventing Caregiver Burnout – Practical Self-Care Strategies That Actually Work

Bayhill 32

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

This session will define caregiver burnout and help attendees to recognize at least three signs or symptoms in themselves or others. It will also describe the primary causes of caregiver burnout, including emotional, physical, and systemic factors. Attendees will practice micro self-care techniques (such as brief breathing exercises, breaks, and grounding tools) that can be used throughout the day. The presenter will also demonstrate effective emotional self-care strategies, including naming emotions, journaling, and recognizing personal stress triggers.

Building An Integrative Future For Mental Health Care

Bayhill 33
3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

Building an integrative future for mental health care requires moving beyond fragmented systems toward coordinated, lifespan-oriented support. This presentation outlines a practical model that unites psychiatric care, behavioral health, and specialized therapies within one streamlined framework. By strengthening collaboration between clinicians, families, and educators - particularly teachers who observe early behavioral and emotional changes - we can improve identification, accelerate access, and enhance continuity of care for children, adolescents, and adults. The session highlights real-world strategies for creating interdisciplinary teams, aligning school-based insights with clinical decision-making, and designing care pathways that reduce delays and improve outcomes. It also explores the operational and cultural shifts organizations must adopt to sustain truly integrated services. Attendees will leave with actionable approaches to building responsive, equitable, and preventative systems - ones where mental health providers, families, and teachers work together to ensure individuals receive the right support at the right time, all within a cohesive and compassionate model of care.

ABLE Accounts vs. Special Needs Trusts: Making the Right Choice for Your Family

Celebration 4

Families often ask whether they need an ABLE account, a Special Needs Trust (SNT), or both. This session demystifies the differences by comparing cost, flexibility, impact on benefits, and ideal use cases for each. Director John Finch, as well as a financial professional, will share easy-to-understand decision-making tools that help families determine the best long-term planning approach. This session will address when an ABLE account is the better option; when a Special Needs Trust is more appropriate (first-party vs. third-party); why many families choose to use both; understanding Medicaid payback rules; and how ABLE accounts increase autonomy and accessible financial control for the beneficiary. This is a great session for parents, financial planners, elder-law attorneys, nonprofit partners, and caregivers looking for clearer direction on planning tools.

Autism Advocacy Interrupted

Celebration 15

3:30 pm to 4:30 pm

Today's autism community is louder than ever – but not always kinder or clearer. Caregivers are constantly navigating competing messages, clashing opinions, and advocacy “camps” that argue over therapy choices, inclusion vs. specialized supports, identity language, schooling decisions, adulthood expectations, and what “good advocacy” is supposed to look like. Add in social media judgment, public misunderstanding, and pressure from professionals, and it can feel like the very movement meant to support families is now dividing them.

“Autism Advocacy Interrupted” tackles the tension head-on. This session explores how advocacy has splintered, why caregivers often feel caught in the crossfire, and how those fractures impact families emotionally, relationally, and practically. Most importantly, it offers a way forward – grounded, compassionate, and unifying. Together we'll examine how to make confident decisions for your child, honor differing viewpoints without hostility, reduce the noise, and return to what truly matters: dignity, respect, and meaningful support for individuals with autism. This session acknowledges the conflict and division no one wants to talk about. It helps you sort through loud voices and find YOUR grounded advocacy path. It restores unity, compassion, and respect within the autism community. It empowers you to lead, speak, and stand strong without attacking others. It builds confidence in your voice, your choices, and your direction. If you've ever felt pressured, judged, unsure who to trust, or worn down by “advocacy wars,” this session offers clarity, courage, and a renewed sense of purpose.

What if you could learn simple tools to feel calmer, more focused, and more in control, anytime you need it?

This interactive session is designed especially for siblings (ages 13–17) and offers fun, hands-on ways to understand how your mind and body work together. You'll explore the power of your thoughts, learn how feelings show up in the body, and discover easy techniques to shift how you feel in real time. We'll experiment with muscle testing to see how the body responds to different thoughts, try simple breathwork to calm the nervous system, and learn tools like tapping (EFT) and sound to release stress and reset.

Whether things feel overwhelming, busy, or just a lot sometimes, these tools can help you feel stronger on the inside. Come curious, leave with your own set of "inner superpowers" you can use anytime, anywhere. (Please note: this session is scheduled to last two hours to allow for interactive activities.)

Parents Helping Parents

Barrel Spring I
5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

If you've ever learned something the hard way and thought, "I wish someone had told me this sooner," this is a session you don't want to miss. Parents helping parents is at the heart of meaningful advocacy – sharing what we've learned while navigating systems, services, and supports for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. In this session, parent and caregiver difference-makers come together to share real-world insights, hard-earned lessons, and practical guidance to help you avoid common pitfalls and move forward with more confidence and clarity. Whether you are a parent, family member, or guardian, you don't have to figure this out alone – find a resource, make a connection, and walk away with takeaways you can use and an action plan to get started. You've already found Family Café – that's a powerful first step.

Discovering My Son's Voice: A Father's Unexpected Journey Into Gestalt Language Processing

Bayhill 17

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

What happens when your child can't speak the way the world expects, but still has so much to say? Join a heartfelt and eye-opening conversation as one father shares how discovering Gestalt Language Processing (GLP) gave his nonverbal autistic son a powerful new way to communicate. What began as confusion and frustration turned into breakthrough moments – ones that transformed not just his son's ability to express himself, but his entire path toward independence, learning, and connection. In this session, you'll: hear the real story behind one family's shift to GLP and scripting; learn how nontraditional communication can unlock expression for Gestalt language processors; take away practical insights and strategies that can support both professionals and parents; and be reminded that every child has a voice – we just have to learn how to hear it. Whether you're a parent, therapist, educator, or simply someone who cares, this presentation will offer an honest, hopeful, and deeply human look into how we can better understand and support the way some children truly learn to communicate.

Let's Sleep On It

Bayhill 20

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

The need for positioning does not end when we lay down. Individuals who need support to maintain alignment of the body in sitting and standing need it when laying down as well. Families may have heard the term “24 Hour Postural Care” but not been given the training and/or resources to truly understand what it means. Positioning equipment is used often during waking and active hours, but caregivers and medical professionals often don't understand the importance of supportive positioning when the body is resting and the fact that good alignment at night affects alignment and function during the day. Caregivers often have developed routines that “work” for them for the night that take into consideration things such as gastroesophageal reflux, seizures, breathing challenges, pain, sensory or thermal regulation, joint contractures and pressure injuries. With awareness of how important sleep routines are for everyone, this session aims to introduce a family friendly approach to nighttime postural care, while still managing other concerns. Helping caregivers understand the why, when, where and how to begin supported sleep positioning that can significantly improve their loved ones' comfort and alignment at night. Healthcare professionals also need to be educated and involved to work with families to obtain supportive sleep systems through insurances and individualize each client's supine positioning program successfully. Ultimately, providing this simple approach has been shown through decades of research to reduce expensive, painful, and often repeated orthopedic interventions for scoliosis, hip dysplasia and muscle contractures. Even one less surgery for a person with movement challenges is a win for everyone. Caregivers, medical and educational professionals, and individuals with movement challenges are invited to come and learn through video and hands-on examples of night time positioning equipment, then take their knowledge home and share with their teams. Let's sleep on that!

ABCs of Special Needs Trusts and Guardian Advocacy

Bayhill 23

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

This informative workshop is designed for parents, guardians, and advocates of individuals with special needs. Attorney Sarah AuMiller will discuss the importance of legal and estate planning for families with special needs. A family member with special needs creates an added layer of complexity to estate planning – the need for advanced trust planning and guardianship. In this workshop, you will learn the basics of special needs trusts – both first party and third party trusts, including why they are important for protecting government benefit eligibility and providing lifetime protection for vulnerable individuals. We will also explore both guardianship and guardian advocacy – when each is appropriate and why they are essential for the protection of your loved ones.

Using Person-Centered Thinking to Improve your Loved One's Services

Bayhill 24

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

Person-Centered Planning is at the heart of social services, and every service or support plan written is supposed to use this as the foundation. So what happens when your loved one still comes up short? Person-Centered Thinking is what Person-Centered Planning is based on, but it is not always implemented properly. This presentation will show you how you can identify and communicate unmet needs in a way that will force providers and agencies to re-examine their plan and lead to more specific and appropriate services. This is not a certification in Person-Centered Thinking, but a way to learn some of the basic concepts that you can then implement right away.

Understanding the Matrix and How to Increase Step Up Funding

Bayhill 25

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

This session will explain to parents, caregivers, private schools, therapists, and support providers what the Florida Matrix of Services is and how it directly correlates to a student's IEP. Because school districts do not explain how the Matrix works or how to ensure the IEP captures all areas of need, families are often left without the information required to secure an accurate Matrix score. Florida's Step Up for Students scholarship program can provide families of students with disabilities with up to $30,000+ per year, yet most families, schools, and even districts do not realize that the Matrix of Services is what determines how much funding a child actually receives. In this session, nationally-recognized special education advocate Jamie Kirschner, Founder and CEO of Education Advocates of America, breaks down the Matrix in a clear, practical way and shows how IEP goals, service minutes, accommodations, and evaluations directly impact funding levels. Participants will learn what the five Matrix domains measure, the most common mistakes that lead to students being underrated and underfunded, and how to align documentation and IEP language to support a higher Matrix score. Families leave with a practical roadmap for ensuring their child's educational, therapeutic, and behavioral needs are fully recognized and funded under Florida law.

Worthy: Letting Go of the Life You Imagined and Honoring the One You're Living

Bayhill 26

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

When a child's life unfolds differently than expected, families are often forced to grieve imagined futures while navigating an uncertain new reality. This workshop explores the concept of worthiness – separate from grades, trophies, milestones, or social approval. Through reflection, lived experience, and practical re-framing tools, participants will learn how to release old measures of success, embrace the unknown, and anchor their parenting in the truth that their child is worthy exactly as they are. A disability diagnosis can quietly rewrite everything a family imagined – futures shaped by report cards, team photos, college plans, and cultural definitions of success. In the absence of those familiar markers, many parents find themselves questioning not just the future, but their own sense of meaning, identity, and worth. This workshop invites families to pause and examine the deeply embedded beliefs we carry about achievement, normalcy, and value. Together, we'll explore how to grieve the dreams that no longer fit, make peace with uncertainty, and consciously redefine what a meaningful, beautiful life can look like. Participants will leave with language, tools, and permission to see their child – and themselves – as worthy beyond performance, productivity, or comparison.

Bridging the Gap: Why Cognitive Functioning Matters More than IQ

Bayhill 28

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

As a mother of a daughter with developmental disabilities, I spent years at IEP meetings being told what my child would not be able to do – always based on her IQ score. Yet as my daughter grew, so did her abilities. By the time she reached high school, the same professionals who once limited her potential were now asking how she managed to pass the math portion of the FCAT. My answer was simple: “With God all things are possible.”

What I learned on our journey is that an IQ number does not define a child’s capabilities, potential, or purpose. Instead of accepting limits, I focused on understanding my daughter’s cognitive functioning – where she was developmentally, how she learned best, and what supports could bridge the gap between her chronological age and her cognitive level.

This session will explore why cognitive functioning provides a more meaningful and practical foundation for supporting individuals with developmental disabilities. I’ll share our story, the strategies that helped my daughter succeed, and how families and professionals can shift from limiting labels to empowering approaches. Come discover how faith, intentional support, and a deeper understanding of cognitive functioning can open doors far beyond what any IQ score predicts.

School Liaisons are Here to Help - What is an IEP and How Do I Navigate the Process?

Bayhill 29

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

School Liaisons play a vital role in supporting military families in a variety of ways, particularly within the Exceptional Family Members Program (EFMP). One key area of assistance is helping families navigate the complexities of local education systems. What happens when a military parent doesn’t know where to start with the Individualized Education Program (IEP) process? This seminar is designed to guide military parents through the IEP process from start to finish, beginning with the identification of students with disabilities, making requests for evaluation, determining eligibility for services, understanding evaluations, and managing timelines. Lastly, we’ll cover how to develop an Individualized Education Plan (when applicable). Since parents often don’t know what they don’t know, let the School Liaison be your guide through this important journey.

Telling Your Story Your Way: Art as Self-Advocacy (No “Talent” Required)

Bayhill 30

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

You don’t have to be an artist to share your story. This session demonstrates how storytelling and visual art can help communicate experiences, emotions, and identity in ways that feel safe and personal. Participants will explore imaginative approaches – using characters, symbols, and simple prompts – that foster authentic expression and celebrate each person’s unique voice. The hybrid format allows attendees to participate hands-on or simply observe and reflect, offering practical strategies and inspiration for individuals and families to use creativity as a meaningful tool for self-advocacy.

Autism, Death, and Grief: Experiences from Those on the Spectrum

Bayhill 31
5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

Many parents have a major fear of what will happen to their child after they are gone. The traumatic state that can occur is hard enough for neurotypical children, much less children on the spectrum. This presentation will focus on the experience of death of a loved one, especially a parent, from the viewpoint of people with ASD. The speakers lost parents and loved ones too soon and will describe the grieving processes, the difficulties faced, the supports they found helpful, and what advice they have for parents, siblings, relatives, and professionals. Strategies for helping prepare for the inevitable will be shared.

My Needs Network: Improving Access to Resources Through AI

Celebration 1

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

This presentation showcases the development and beta testing results of an innovative AI-powered health literacy chatbot that emerged from eight years of community-based participatory research with families navigating complex disability and healthcare systems. My Needs Network's reinforced language model combines multiple AI platforms with human oversight and community feedback to deliver culturally appropriate health literacy education and intelligent resource navigation. Discover how My Needs Network's AI tool will support families in resources. My Needs Network's reinforced language model combines multiple AI platforms to provide personalized navigation through 200+ service categories, answering questions in plain language, identifying relevant local resources, and providing step-by-step instructions for accessing services. Unlike generic AI tools, this system is trained on community-specific content, connects directly to a database of 17,000+ vetted resources, and learns from real user experiences to improve recommendations over time. Attendees will learn how to use the tool, the framework for building the AI navigation system, and be introduced to our white-label deployment model that allows organizations to customize the AI for their communities. We will also discuss cost-effective implementation strategies using existing platforms, and provide a roadmap for moving from concept to live beta testing in under 12 months.

Ready Set Backpack: A Practical Emergency Plan for Neurodivergent Children and Adults

Celebration 14

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

Families of individuals with disabilities often ask the same question: What happens if I am not there? Emergencies take many forms. Hurricanes. Power outages. Evacuations. Unexpected hospital visits. Shelter stays. Sudden housing changes. In these moments, another adult may need to step in quickly. That adult may not know the individual’s sensory triggers, communication style, medical needs, or safety risks.

This session introduces the “Ready Set Backpack” framework, a family-driven, strength-based approach to emergency readiness. Participants will learn how to create a customized emergency plan and go bag that supports safety, dignity, and communication during high stress situations.

Voices That Matter: Reimagining Possibilities Through Family-Led Advocacy and Neurodiversity

Celebration 16

5:00 pm to 6:00 pm

“Voices That Matter: Reimagining Possibilities Through Family-Led Advocacy and Neurodiversity” delves into the influential role families can play in developing inclusive systems for those with autism and disabilities. Yazmin Castellano, a captivating speaker, is a mental health expert, a presenter at both state and national levels, and a mother to a child with autism and disabilities. Drawing from her work with the Center for Autism and Related Disabilities, culturally responsive projects like “Los Terneritos,” and collaboration with NADD, Yazmin emphasizes the significance of embracing neurodiversity, advocating for mental health, and promoting strengths-based inclusion in workplaces and communities. Through her media presence on Telemundo and Univision, she elevates diverse voices and advocates for inclusion. Participants will acquire advocacy tools and be motivated to transform the narrative from one of limitations to one of possibilities.

The 28th Annual Summit on Disabilities

BILL GALVANO

This year's Summit will be moderated by long-time supporter of The Family Café and Floridians with disabilities, former Florida Senate President Bill Galvano.

Beginning with The 1st Annual Family Café nearly three decades ago, creating a space where attendees can connect with the elected officials and policymakers whose actions profoundly impact daily life for Floridians with disabilities and their families has been a cornerstone of The Annual Family Café. We're excited to continue the tradition here in 2026!

The Annual Summit on Disabilities presents a unique opportunity to hear from elected officials, policymakers, and the agencies that serve Floridians with disabilities, connecting attendees with decision makers at the highest level of state government. It also provides an occasion to remember how important it is for people with disabilities to engage in our representative democracy, and make their voices heard both at the ballot box and at the Capitol.

The Family Café is committed to helping policymakers understand what daily life is like for the people with disabilities and families that they serve, and to giving our attendees a chance to better understand the policy making process by hearing directly from our state's leaders. We sincerely hope you take advantage of this opportunity to be a part of that dialogue at The 28th Annual Summit on Disabilities!

The 28th Annual Summit on Disabilities will feature a musical performance by singer/songwriter and parent of a child with autism Staar Fields, accompanied by musicians from St. John & Friends. She is excited to spread her message of hope and encouragement with everyone at The Annual Family Café. For more information, visit staarfields.com.

Patrice: The Movie

The Family Café invites you to join us for a screening of Patrice: The Movie followed by a Panel Discussion with the Filmmakers and Cast!

Patrice has finally found the love of her life, Garry, who is also disabled. They want nothing more than to get married, but if they do - or even if they just move in together - the government benefits they need to survive would be cut. Despite the scrutiny they're under, they decide to plan a commitment ceremony that could risk their entire future.

PATRICE

Patrice: The Movie* won the Emmy Award for “Exceptional Merit in Documentary Filmmaking”

... and it also won the Humanitas Prize, the Cinema Eye Honor “Unforgettable Award,” the “All Inclusion Award” at the DOK Fest Munich, and the “Audience Award” at the Camden Film Festival. The film made its world premiere at the Toronto Film Festival. It is available on Hulu where it became one of the top 25 “Most Liked” documentaries on the platform.

Behavior Supports at Home and School: What Families Should Expect

Bayhill 22

9:00 am to 10:00 am

Florida law requires schools to address challenging behavior through positive, proactive supports, not punishment alone. This session helps families understand what schools are legally required to do when behavior interferes with learning and what effective behavior supports should look like at school and at home.

Families will learn when Functional Behavioral Assessments (FBAs) and Behavior Intervention Plans (BIPs) are required, what protections exist related to discipline, and the legal limits on restraint and seclusion. Through real-life examples, the session highlights how schools and families can work together to teach communication, self-regulation, and coping skills.

Participants will leave with a clear understanding of their rights, practical expectations, and information about free Florida resources available to support families and children.

Mathematics for Life

Bayhill 23

9:00 am to 10:00 am

Mathematics for life means helping children use math as a practical tool to understand their world. It is less about worksheets and more about building real-life thinking skills through play, daily routines, and exploration. These skills support success in school and everyday life. This session will provide activities for home, to include how adults can support math learning naturally. I have been an educator for twenty-five years, with twenty of those years being a professional learning specialist for administrators, teachers, paraprofessionals, and families.

Nothing About Us Without Our Voices: A Beginner's Guide to Podcasting for the Disability Community

Bayhill 24

9:00 am to 10:00 am

Disabled voices are still underrepresented in podcasting, even though audio storytelling can be an accessible way to share lived experience. In this beginner-friendly session, people with disabilities, family members, and allies will learn how to start recording stories and interviews using simple tools they may already have, like a smartphone. We will cover basic setup, planning a short episode, recording tips for clearer sound, and safer sharing choices. Participants will leave with a step-by-step starter checklist, sample questions for interviews, and a list of free or low-cost tools.

Special Needs Families and Post-Secondary Success

Bayhill 26

9:00 am to 10:00 am

Families will learn how to move from overwhelmed to confident as they navigate middle and high school homeschooling for disabled students and those with diverse learning needs. This session will offer practical tools for personalized assessment, strengths-based planning, goal-setting, and transition pathways (college, career, entrepreneurship, or military). Participants will receive faith-friendly, family-centered strategies they can adapt to their own values, resources, and each student's unique profile. As the owner of Anchored Approach LLC, a holistic, faith-based homeschool consulting practice, we support Florida families of disabled and neurodivergent students in grades 6-12. Professional expertise includes personalized assessments, strengths-focused coaching, and tailored education and transition planning for diverse post-secondary paths. With experience guiding families from "frazzled to freedom," we equip students and caregivers to confidently design clear, realistic, and values-aligned learning plans.

Benefits Soup

Bayhill 28

9:00 am to 10:00 am

Navigating disability-related benefits can be confusing. You may receive SSI, SSDI, Medicaid, Medicare, HCBS waivers, Vocational Rehabilitation, HUD assistance, or other state and federal programs. Each has its own rules and eligibility requirements, and when you receive multiple benefits, those rules can overlap or conflict. What do you need to follow to stay eligible for the supports you rely on? How does one program affect another? Join us for a straightforward look at how these benefits interact and what to watch for so you can maintain eligibility across programs.

The Arts in Pre-K and Beyond!

Bayhill 30

9:00 am to 10:00 am

Early art education has been shown to promote skill and knowledge acquisition in young children. Through art, young children build important skills like recognizing shapes, colors, letters, numbers, emotions, and patterns, while also strengthening fine and gross motor skills, exploring their senses, and learning how to interact positively with others. Art also encourages creativity, confidence, and safe risk-taking.

In this session, we will share examples of literacy-based thematic art activities used with young children in community settings such as libraries, Pre-K classrooms, and early learning programs, and highlight how children with disabilities enthusiastically engage with and enjoy the arts. During the hands-on activities, parents will learn simple, flexible ways to adapt art activities at home so children of all ages and ability levels can participate, experiment, and have fun together.

Grieving the Diagnosis

Bayhill 31

9:00 am to 10:00 am

Receiving an autism or special needs diagnosis for a child is life-altering. It comes with love, fierce advocacy, and hope – but it also brings grief, confusion, guilt, fear, and loss of the future a parent once imagined. This session gently walks families through the emotional journey that follows a diagnosis, acknowledging the very real and valid grief while offering space for healing, community, and renewed strength. We'll explore the stages of grief as they uniquely apply to caregivers, discuss how to process overwhelming emotions in healthy ways, and share practical tools for resilience, support, and finding purpose again. Parents will leave feeling seen, grounded, and empowered to move forward with hope. Perfect for parents, caregivers, extended family, ministry leaders, educators, and anyone supporting families after diagnosis. Attendees will come away with emotional validation, realistic coping strategies, language to explain this experience to others, and renewed confidence for the road ahead.

Keeping Cool When Emotions Run Hot: Emotional Regulation for Neurodivergent Minds

Bayhill 33

9:00 am to 10:00 am

We all lose our cool sometimes! Even with a trained professional in the home, it's tough to manage our responses to triggers. This session will discuss some of the unique challenges with emotional regulation, especially for those with neurodivergent brains. We will identify solutions for preventing and managing triggers, dysfunctional responses, outbursts, meltdowns, and other consequences of dysregulation, and share our own successes – and failures – at learning to regulate our emotions and behaviors, with practical solutions, personal stories, and interactive participation with the audience. Dr. Christina Gonzalez is a Licensed Mental Health Counselor with a doctorate degree in Counseling Psychology who specializes in ADHD, Autism, Anxiety, Trauma, and other conditions that impact emotional regulation. She has worked with a variety of clients from different backgrounds over the past 20 years. She also has ADHD and Anxiety herself. Daniel Gonzalez is an adult with cerebral palsy, sensory integration disorder, developmental disabilities, anxiety, and ADHD and a history of significant levels of emotional dysregulations. They share their lived and learned experiences – personal and professional – in this presentation.

The Arts Get Accessible: A Fun Dive into Disability and Expression

Celebration 2
9:00 am to 10:00 am

The arts and people with disabilities have always gone hand-in-hand, creativity is for EVERYONE. Art opens fun, meaningful ways to share stories, emotions, and ideas – no fancy words required. From painting and music to theater and dance, creative spaces give people with disabilities the chance to shine, connect, and be seen for who they are. Along the way, the arts have also helped flip the script on stereotypes and change how society thinks about disability. Come along as we explore the history of art and disability and celebrate how inclusivity and accessible creative spaces make imagination soar.

Creating an Inclusive Home: Exploring Diverse Housing Options to Support Independence for Individuals with Disabilities

Celebration 3
9:00 am to 10:00 am

This presentation will explore the critical need for and various solutions regarding adaptive housing for individuals with disabilities. Amanda and her family will share their personal, inspirational journey creating a specialized, adjacent tiny home, discussing the design challenges, specific solutions (assistive technology, soundproofing, adaptive furniture), and the profound positive impact on Amanda’s independence. The goal is to equip Amanda with skills for daily living, increase her self-sufficiency, and further her workforce readiness. Chantai Snellgrove will then broaden the discussion, addressing the overarching challenges of supporting individuals with disabilities and creating/finding other viable living space options, offering practical guidance and resources for families exploring diverse housing paths.

Unlocking the Mystery of Cortical/Cerebral Visual Impairment (CVI): A Guide for Parents

Celebration 7
9:00 am to 10:00 am

Cortical/Cerebral Visual Impairment (CVI) is now the leading cause of vision loss in children. Yet, many may not fully understand how CVI affects a child's ability to see and learn. This session is designed especially for families and caregivers who want to better understand this unique type of visual impairment. You'll learn what CVI is, how it's assessed in a school setting, and what it means for your child's education. Most importantly, you'll leave with practical tools, strategies, and resources to help support your child's learning and development – at home and in school.

Adaptive Fashion for Real Life: How Clothing Can Empower People with Disabilities

Celebration 8

9:00 am to 10:00 am

In this interactive session, designer and founder of Lady Fines Adaptive Fashion, Lady Fines, will guide attendees through the world of adaptive apparel and why thoughtful design matters for people with disabilities. This presentation will include a visual PowerPoint that explains the needs, challenges, and daily barriers that many individuals face when dressing, along with solutions that adaptive fashion can provide.

Lady will walk the audience through real examples of adaptive clothing, including magnetic closures, accessible tracksuits, hearing aid covers, wheelchair friendly accessories, and more. Attendees will have the chance to see and touch sample garments while learning how small design choices can create big improvements in comfort, independence, and personal confidence.

This session is ideal for families, caregivers, educators, disability advocates, and anyone interested in inclusive design. Participants will leave with a better understanding of adaptive fashion, how it supports diverse bodies, and how the clothing industry can create a more accessible future for everyone.

Restoration of Rights and Alternatives to Guardianship

Celebration 9

9:00 am to 10:00 am

This presentation will focus on the process of restoring one's rights after guardianship or guardian advocacy. Presenters will provide an overview of the process, instructions on how to get started, and information on the differences in restoration of rights from guardianship versus guardian advocacy. The presentation will also cover basic information about alternatives to guardianship, such as Designations of Healthcare Surrogate, Powers of Attorney, and Supported Decision-Making Agreements. Additionally, the presentation will explore how to use these alternatives, as well as social supports post-restoration, to ensure an individual's needs are met while preserving their rights and autonomy.

Playing for More Than Applause: Recognizing Real Skills in Creative and Community Work

Celebration 13

9:00 am to 10:00 am

This session highlights how a disabled artist can serve the community while exploring how traditional employment models may not fully capture all forms of skilled work. I will share how my son, Milosz – a minimally verbal autistic pianist – uses his musical skills in service at Moffitt Cancer Center and Johns Hopkins Hospital, and through volunteer performances for PARC Center for Disabilities, Night to Shine, and other community events. Milosz has also performed for four consecutive years at Tampa International Airport and Florida Botanical Gardens, and holds paid work at DeLukas Restaurant. His journey invites discussion about recognizing skilled work, meaningful contribution, and how vocational pathways can evolve to align with individual strengths.

Autism & The Law – How To Prepare for Law Enforcement Contact & Current Trends

Celebration 14

9:00 am to 10:00 am

“My child on the autism spectrum will never come into contact with law enforcement officers.” That is the statement we hear often, and is probably the most incorrect one ever made. The fact is that you never know what is going to cause law enforcement officer contact with an individual on the autism spectrum. Therefore, you must prepare your child/teen/adult for the eventual contact. This session will focus on how best to prepare for law enforcement contact, give strategies and supports, offer insight to current trends, and share how to make them as safe as possible.

Self-Advocacy Skills Through Storytelling

Celebration 15

9:00 am to 10:00 am

We explore how storytelling techniques can make self-advocacy clearer, calmer, and more effective in everyday interactions like requesting accommodations or responding to difficulties. Participants will learn how to shape personal experiences into clear narratives that highlight facts, reduce misunderstandings, and build credibility. Learn how structure, word choice, and tone influence how others respond, plus practical tools like boundary statements and reframing techniques. Attendees will leave with simple resources and strategies to help them communicate their needs with confidence, clarity, and impact.

Pediatric Feeding Therapy: The OT Perspective

Celebration 16

9:00 am to 10:00 am

In 2021, Pediatric Feeding Disorder (PFD) was formally added to the International Classification of Diseases, marking a pivotal shift in how we recognize and treat feeding challenges. With 1 in every 37 children under the age of five currently diagnosed with PFD, the need for evidence-based, holistic intervention has never been more urgent. This session explores the critical role of Occupational Therapy in managing the four domains of PFD: medical, nutrition, feeding skills, and psychosocial. Attendees will learn how OTs bridge the gap between clinical mechanics (swallowing and oral motor skills) and the sensory-rich environment of the family dinner table. We will dive into specialized interventions, from adaptive equipment to sensory processing strategies, and highlight why the “interprofessional team” isn’t complete without the most important member: the caretaker. Objectives will include defining the four domains of PFD and other related feeding difficulties, recognizing the risks of untreated feeding disorders (e.g., tube dependency and developmental delays), identifying specific OT interventions, including sensory-based strategies and adaptive feeding equipment, and understanding the “Caretaker-Coaching” model: how OTs empower parents to read infant/child cues and improve the mealtime dynamic.

Belief, Grit, & A Plan: Helping Our Young Adults Thrive

Bayhill 17

10:30 am to 11:30 am

"Mattie & Me" is a story of challenges met with belief – and a refusal to be deterred. As a single dad raising a young adult with Down syndrome, I've learned that progress begins when we truly believe our children are capable of anything. From there, the work becomes building a plan. This session shares the real obstacles we faced, the moments of doubt, and the mindset shifts and practical tools that helped us keep moving forward. Parents – especially dads and single caregivers – will leave inspired, encouraged, and equipped with actionable ideas to help their young adults build confidence, purpose, and possibility at The Family Café.

Successful Transitions: Supporting Children Through Sensory-Informed Strategies

Bayhill 20

10:30 am to 11:30 am

Transitions can be difficult for many children, especially those experiencing developmental, behavioral, emotional, or sensory challenges. This interactive session will provide caregivers and professionals with practical, sensory-informed strategies to support smoother transitions at home, school, and in the community. Participants will learn how to use visual supports, movement, music, play, and calming tools to reduce stress and increase cooperation during routines such as mealtimes, bath time, bedtime, and outings. Resources will be shared to help adapt strategies for each child's unique needs, strengths, and developmental stage.

Twice Exceptional: Gifted with Disabilities for Parents

Bayhill 23

10:30 am to 11:30 am

Have you ever heard the term “twice exceptional,” or 2e? Children who are twice exceptional, meaning being gifted and having a disability, are often misunderstood. In this session, you will develop an awareness of 2e, identify challenges and dispel myths related to gifted and exceptionalities, and explore relevant strategies to help your child who may be identified as, or fit the category of twice exceptional.

When Love Isn't Enough: Resilience, Advocacy, and Legal Tools for Families Navigating Complex Disabilities

Bayhill 24

10:30 am to 11:30 am

Families supporting a child or adult with complex disabilities often face overwhelming behavioral, educational, and legal challenges. In this candid and practical session, attorney and author Nancy Ferraro shares lived experience raising a disabled child who survived early institutional trauma, along with the tools families can use to protect themselves and their loved one. Participants will learn about special needs planning, guardianship considerations, crisis-navigation strategies, and how to advocate effectively in systems that often overlook high-needs families. This workshop blends storytelling with actionable guidance to help families feel supported, informed, and empowered.

Dramatic Arts Meets Speech Therapy

Bayhill 27

10:30 am to 11:30 am

My work bridges the world of dramatic arts and speech therapy, blending performance techniques with therapeutic practice to enhance communication, confidence, and expression. Drawing from acting, voice, and movement, I create dynamic, creative sessions that empower individuals to find their authentic voices and connect more effectively with others. Through storytelling, improvisation, and role-play, clients explore language, emotion, and presence in transformative ways. This innovative approach nurtures both the art of performance and the science of speech, fostering personal growth, clarity, and expressive freedom.

The Importance of Quality Support Coordination for Families, Self-Advocates, and the Systems That Support Them

Bayhill 28

10:30 am to 11:30 am

Quality support coordination plays a critical role in helping individuals with developmental disabilities live stable, meaningful lives within Florida's iBudget Waiver and CDC+ programs. This session centers on how thoughtful, consistent coordination supports personal choice, continuity of services, and day-to-day stability – especially during periods of uncertainty, as well as system and policy changes. Attendees will gain an understanding of how strong support coordination helps individuals and families navigate service provider networks and APD and Medicaid processes, prevents service disruptions, and promotes health, safety, and community inclusion. The session emphasizes person-centered practices that honor individual choices and goals while strengthening the long-term sustainability of Florida's iBudget waiver system.

Creating Your Own Mental and Physical Safe Space

Bayhill 31

10:30 am to 11:30 am

This session weaves together my lived experiences as a person with Autism and ADHD to help others reconnect with their strengths, capacities, and sense of self. Too often, we move through life without pausing to understand what we are truly capable of – and what is realistically within our bandwidth. By taking intentional steps and honoring our neurodiversity, we can begin to shape environments that support our growth rather than drain it. Participants will learn how everyday choices – like who you surround yourself with, the routines you create, the rooms you spend time in, and even the thoughts you hold about yourself – can either nourish or drain your mental health. Through guided reflection, practical tools, and calming strategies, you'll discover how to cultivate spaces that feel nurturing, peaceful, and aligned with the person you're becoming. This session encourages you to redefine safety on your own terms and empowers you to build environments that promote rest, clarity, confidence, and emotional resilience. Whether you're seeking calm, structure, or freedom, this is your blueprint for creating a life that feels like home – inside and out.

Understanding Florida's Mental Health System

Bayhill 32

10:30 am to 11:30 am

Florida's mental health system is made up of many different agencies, places, and providers. This can make it hard to understand what kinds of services are available for you and your family. It can also make it confusing to know who to contact when you have questions or concerns about service provision. This presentation will provide an overview of which state agencies are part of Florida's mental health system, where you and your family may receive services, and who to contact when you need help. Engaging activities and the chance to ask questions will leave participants better equipped to navigate Florida's mental health system.

Understanding Your Brain: Executive Functioning with Help from Inside Out

Bayhill 33

10:30 am to 11:30 am

In this fun and friendly presentation, we'll use the movie Inside Out to help us understand how our brains work, especially when it comes to executive functioning. That's a fancy term for the mental skills we use to stay organized, manage our feelings, make decisions, and get things done. With the help of Riley and her emotions – Joy, Sadness, Anger, Fear, and Disgust – we'll explore how the brain handles challenges, changes, and big feelings. We'll talk about things like remembering steps, staying calm when frustrated, and switching gears when plans change. This session is designed to include easy-to-understand examples, visuals, and interactive activities. You'll leave with helpful strategies and a better understanding of how your brain works – and how you can take charge like the real boss inside your mind!

Understanding Life Insurance – The Power of Leverage in Funding a Supplemental Needs Trust!

Celebration 5

10:30 am to 11:30 am

The seminar is geared towards helping parents understand the importance of financial leverage when properly using life insurance as a tool to fund a supplemental needs trust. One of the most misunderstood financial tools available to parents, the seminar will review how temporary term insurance can eventually be converted and be added as permanent leverage as part of their trust's funding strategy. Also covered will be how to add additional coverage by considering both parents' lives as part of an overall investment and eventual retirement plan. This seminar should be considered by all age groups, from young parents with newly diagnosed children through to early retirees trying to figure out their endgame. Today's life insurance is not your grandparents', or even your parents', life insurance!

Parents as the Bridge: Connecting Home, School, and Student Success + Q&A

Celebration 16

10:30 am to 11:30 am

“Parents as the Bridge” highlights how families and schools work together to support student success. Parents learn simple, practical ways to strengthen communication, routines, and collaboration – building a strong partnership that helps children thrive at school.

The presentation introduces the “bridge” framework, built on a foundation of collaboration and strengthened by five key pillars:

- Early identification and planning
- Consistent home routines
- Effective communication
- Understanding school supports
- Advocacy through partnership

Together, these pillars create alignment between home and school, encourage shared problem solving, and promote positive educational outcomes. Participants leave with practical strategies, reflection tools, and a clear understanding that small, intentional actions, can make a meaningful difference in their child’s educational journey.

Celebration of Life

Rainbow Spring II

10:30 am to 11:30 am

This session is for you if a loved one has died, and you would like to receive support in your grieving process. Together, we celebrate our loved one’s gifts and find comfort in remembering them. We share, reflect, and support one another in our sorrow. We come together each year because we know that sharing and caring together is healing. It allows us to pause and reflect as we honor the lives of those who profoundly touched our lives. For people with physical or mental disabilities, the loss of a loved one can be especially upsetting. The emotions can feel overwhelming, but within the safe and supportive environment of The Family Café, healing can continue. Your facilitator is Paula Petry, PhD – author, speaker, and grief expert. Paula will share her deeply personal and transformational journey through her deep sadness and grief from the unexpected loss of her daughter Alexandra. She has prepared a special presentation, small ceremony and handouts to help you experience your grief from a position of strength and gratitude.

No Dad Left Behind: Building a Brotherhood of Advocacy and Support

Bayhill 17

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Fathers often navigate the world of disability services and resources feeling like outsiders in a system designed for others. This interactive round-table-style discussion invites dads to break that isolation by finding other fathers in their local community or beyond. We will discuss practical strategies for cutting through the technical and convoluted jargon and leveraging our powerful DAD voices to advocate effectively for our children and others. By sharing our unique perspectives, we can create a seat at the table where a father's voice is heard, valued, and respected. Come find support, share resources, build lasting support networks and discover the peace that comes from a shared journey. By the end, you will have actionable takeaways, identify established Florida-based "Dad groups," and have immediate access to a band of brothers, and renewed encouragement and motivation to keep putting one foot in front of another.

Embrace, Empower, Cultivate: Fostering Independence in Children

Bayhill 20

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

This workshop examines the importance of encouraging independence in a child with special needs. The workshop also discusses how hard it can be for parents to step back and offer increasing levels of freedom to the child to allow them to develop that independence. Finally, the session offers some ideas for parents in learning how to let go in a constructive fashion.

Together We Rise: A Parent's Journey Supporting a Child with Autism and Selective Mutism

Bayhill 25

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Raising a child on the autism spectrum who also experiences selective mutism is a journey filled with both quiet struggles and powerful breakthroughs. In this presentation, I will share a personal story of supporting my son, Leto, a profoundly bright and curious child, through the unique challenges of autism and limited verbal communication in school and social settings. With a focus on real-life strategies and small victories, this presentation will explore how thoughtful collaboration between family, teachers, therapists, and community programs, including FAU CARD, played a vital role in Leto's growth. I will reflect on the emotional and practical steps taken to build trust, foster communication, and embrace Leto's strengths. Attendees will leave with encouragement, useful insights, and a reminder of how powerful it can be to walk this journey together, with love, patience, and a strong support network.

Letter of Intent: Writing the "Manual" for Your Child

Bayhill 27

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

A letter of intent is a non-legal document that provides future caregivers with a roadmap of your child's life. It tells future caregivers how to make your child happy, how to de-escalate when your child is overwhelmed, and guides caregivers to provide the kind of life you envision for your child. We will walk through the five pillars of a letter of intent and you will get your own template to build for yourself and your child.

Planning for Transition to Adulthood and Beyond for Persons with Disabilities – Putting Together the Pieces of a Complicated Puzzle

Bayhill 30

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Assessing the needs for a person with a disability as far as government benefits, education, financial support, day activities, and future needs can be overwhelming and frustrating. This presentation focuses on what benefits and legal protections are available while a person with a disability is transitioning to adulthood, and how needs change as a person ages. The pieces of the puzzle to be explored include services under the IDEA, Home and Community Based Services through Medicaid, Social Security, and other governmental and community resources available. Additionally, the presenter will discuss the timeline/chronology of the availability and appropriateness of different benefits through the lifetime, providing caregivers and self-advocates with a framework of what to expect and when.

Lived Experience Matters: FASD Through the Voice of a Self-Advocate

Bayhill 32
3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

This powerful and insightful training offers participants a unique opportunity to understand Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorders (FASD) through the lived experience of a young adult diagnosed with Fetal Alcohol Syndrome. Co-presented by Alex and his mother, this session highlights both the challenges and strengths that come with the diagnosis, as well as the importance of empathy, communication, and support in the journey of individuals with FASD and their families. Alex shares his personal story, explaining what the diagnosis means to him and how it has shaped his everyday life from school and relationships to independence and advocacy. With honesty and heart, he discusses both his struggles and the “superpowers” that come with his unique brain. His mother offers a parent’s perspective, sharing the path they’ve taken together to better understand and support one another.

Raise a Capable Kid Regardless of Diagnosis or Challenge

Bayhill 33
3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

No two kids are the same, but Dr. Winking’s research shows that parents who raise their child to be capable are similar in some very important ways! In this interactive session, author and researcher Dr. Deborah Winking introduces the 12 Parenting Habits(TM) from her 2024 book, Raising Capable Kids – The 12 Habits Every Parent Needs Regardless of their Child’s Diagnosis or Challenge. She offers compelling real-life stories of the habits in action and the science behind why they are so critical to raising kids with independence and agency. Despite our best efforts, educators and parents too often are working at cross purposes and our children are the ones who lose out. In order for the nearly 20 percent of school aged children who identify as neurodiverse or disabled to truly thrive, we need a “mind meld” between parents, caregivers, educators, and school leaders. Capable speaks to not only parents, but also teachers, therapists, and school leaders who care deeply about supporting students. Both parents and practitioners will walk away with strategies for making The 12 Habits their own. The result: Capable kids – regardless of diagnosis or challenge!

Modern Higher Education: Navigating Recent Changes to an Existing Framework

Celebration 2

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Today's world changes quickly, perhaps more quickly than it ever has before. The Florida State University (FSU) University of Choice (UoC) Initiative returns for its 10th annual presentation to address the evolution of modern higher education and its implications for students with disabilities. This engaging session will feature current FSU students who have found success in the most recent changes in academia. They will provide practical strategies, grounded in experience, for selecting the right school, assessing accessibility, living as a disabled student, conquering academic difficulties, and thriving after graduation. Because higher education looks much different than it did even 10 years ago, our 10th annual presentation will focus on emerging technologies and trends that impact independent living, studying, and subsequent employment. UoC panelists will begin by looking at the process of selecting schools and assessing accessibility. The discussion will then shift to post-acceptance concerns, addressing how recent technological developments have impacted living with a disability and thriving as a disabled student. The panel will conclude by looking at current disability-related employment trends and how they can be leveraged for success as recent disabled graduates. Through real stories of challenges and triumphs, this discussion will provide actionable insights and best practices for succeeding in modern higher education.

A Clear View of Retirement: The Confidence of A Well-Planned Life

Celebration 5
3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

The seminar will emphasize how parents planning on funding a special needs trust for their disabled son or daughter should think differently as it pertains to retirement. Topics will include understanding how to potentially fund and leverage the proper type of life insurance, along with how to reposition deferred retirement accounts to maximize the after-tax benefit for their special someone. The seminar will also discuss how to potentially maximize Social Security benefits for the entire family. The target audience that would benefit most from the seminar would be parents within 10-15 years of their planned retirement.

Navigating Social Security Disability (SSDI) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Work Incentives

Celebration 6

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Social Security has provided financial protection for our nation's people for nearly 90 years. Chances are, you either receive Social Security benefits or know someone who does. With retirement, disability, and survivor's benefits, Social Security is one of the most successful anti-poverty programs in our nation's history. We are passionate about helping you by delivering financial support, providing superior customer service, and ensuring the security of your information – helping you secure today and tomorrow.

This informational session will focus on both Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Work Incentives. Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) employment support provisions assist beneficiaries in moving from benefit dependency to independence, while Supplemental Security Income (SSI) employment support provisions assist beneficiaries in moving from benefit dependency to independence. Work incentives, designed to help recipients enter, re-enter, or stay in the workforce by protecting their eligibility for cash payments and/or healthcare, will be the focus.

Understanding Visual Impairments in Young Children: Signs, Impact, and Strategies

Celebration 8

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

This presentation will provide a comprehensive overview of visual impairments in young children and their impact on development. We will begin by defining what a visual impairment is and how it differs from other vision challenges. Next, we will explore common signs that may indicate a child has a visual impairment, including subtle behaviors that are often overlooked. The session will also cover common diagnoses associated with visual impairments and discuss why signs are frequently missed in children with multiple impairments. We will examine how visual impairments affect various aspects of development, including motor, cognitive, and social skills. Finally, participants will learn simple strategies to promote vision stimulation through engaging activities and discover practical next steps for referrals, resources, and collaboration with specialists. This presentation aims to equip educators, caregivers, and support staff with the knowledge and tools needed to better support children with visual impairments.

Messy Handwriting Meets Modern Tools: How Families Can Support Writing in the Age of AI

Celebration 9

3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Handwriting struggles can be frustrating for children and exhausting for families. Whether your child is learning to write, avoiding it altogether, or feeling discouraged by messy work, you're not alone – and there is hope. In this practical and encouraging session, occupational therapist and handwriting expert Polly Benson shares why handwriting is still an important foundation for learning, confidence, and independence, even in today's tech-driven world.

Families will learn what really helps improve handwriting (and what doesn't), how to support their child's fine motor development at home, and when it's okay to lean on technology. Polly will also introduce how modern tools – including assistive technology and AI – can reduce barriers, increase access, and help individuals with disabilities communicate, learn, and express themselves more independently. You'll leave with clear strategies, fresh perspective, and the reassurance that you don't have to choose between handwriting and technology – you can use both to help your child thrive.

Autism/Neurodiversity and Suicide Prevention: Keeping our Kids Alive

Celebration 10
3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Neurodiverse/autistic people continue to be at a higher risk of suicide. According to the Autism and Suicide Prevention Workgroup, “Warning signs of imminent suicidal behavior in the general public do not represent the unique needs of the autism community.” Let’s take a moment to look at some of the suicide warning signs specific to autistic/neurodiverse people as well as how some autistic traits lead to thwarted belonging-ness and perceived burdensome-ness. We will also discuss some action steps to help keep autistic/neurodiverse youth alive. In addition, a self-advocate and his family will discuss how they navigate suicidal ideation and ongoing mental health challenges.

Employment Superpowers: Level Up with Disability Innovation Fund (DIF) Resources!

Celebration 12
3:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Every family deserves resources that make the transition to employment feel exciting and attainable – not overwhelming. In this lively session, get ready to unlock a variety of DIF-powered “employment superpowers.” We’ll spotlight innovative DIF projects across the country, share what’s working, and – best of all – show you where to grab these resources for free. Whether you’re a parent, youth, advocate, or supporter, you’ll walk away with new confidence, new strategies, and at least one actionable step you can use right away. By the end of this session, participants will be able to: understand the core purpose of the DIF Program; navigate the National Clearinghouse of Rehabilitation Training Materials (NCRTM) to find employment resources that fit your needs; pick one tool and plan how to try it at home, school, or work; and name one “superpower move” or action step they want to take next.

Autism 2 Awesome: Allow Your Greatest Crisis to Become Your Greatest Miracle

Bayhill 17

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

In 2003, Kerry L. Brooks's son was diagnosed with autism, devastating his family. Their physician offered only two recommendations: prepare their son for a group home, and focus on having other children. Kerry was no medical expert, but he was a determined father and his son's biggest advocate. Refusing to follow the doctor's orders, he and his wife continued to search – not for a cure, but for strategies that would help their son reach his highest potential. In "Autism 2 Awesome," Kerry shares these strategies and his family's journey from devastating diagnosis to high school honors graduation. No matter the challenge, every parent can benefit from looking within, trusting their instincts, and most importantly, celebrating every miracle.

You Have Options: Exploring Alternatives When Traditional School Isn't Working

Bayhill 18

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

This session addresses a critical need among families navigating special education by providing a comprehensive guide to non-traditional educational alternatives available in Florida. Parents will learn about microschoools, homeschool programs, virtual academies, and specialized learning centers, along with practical strategies for accessing these options through Florida's Family Empowerment Scholarship (FES-UA) and other funding mechanisms. Attendees will gain actionable knowledge on evaluating which alternative best fits their child's unique learning profile, understanding the step-by-step transition process from public school, and advocating effectively for their child's educational needs. With Florida's expanding school choice landscape, this session empowers families with the current information and confidence needed to make informed decisions about their special needs student's education.

How Does Religion Impact Our Daily Lives as People with Autism?

Bayhill 19

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

Virtually every religious tradition has adherents with autism, and religious traditions play a major role in the daily lives of many people with autism and their families. However, many places of worship routinely struggle to accommodate the needs of their autistic attendees. Listen to two autistic adults from different religious backgrounds describe how religion has impacted their daily lives, and how they ultimately found some degree of acceptance within the religious traditions they identify with.

Pawesome Actions!

Bayhill 20

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

A “pawfessional” demonstration packed with service dogs performing trained tasks! This will be the chance to get to see dogs trained for all types of disabilities in action performing various tasks. Many times dogs are trained for one or two tasks to meet the basic requirements in the ADA. This is a chance to learn how dogs can be trained to perform many tasks for our needs, such as finding someone to get help or finding the way out, or alerting to sounds for the deaf, retrieving items or taking them to someone else. perhaps helping with autism, OCD and repetitive behaviors or seizures, or even helping with psychiatric disorders. Have you wondered how the service dogs could actually help you or your child? Come and see what they actually do.

CDC+ Support Broker: What Is It and How Can It Help Me?

Bayhill 23

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

The presentation on Support Broker provides an overview of the CDC+ program's current challenges and highlights the benefits of a new proposed service, Support Broker, for self-directed services. Proposed requirements and service details will be discussed. DRF proposed creating a new professional service, Support Broker, for the APD Consumer Directed Care+ (CDC+) program. This new service will result in modifications to the current roles of the CDC+ Representatives and CDC+ Support Consultants. When implemented, it will use existing appropriations, result in increased administrative efficiency, and make it possible for more consumers to participate in the program.

From Interview Room to Courtroom: Evidence-Based Strategies to Support Dual System Youth on the Spectrum

Bayhill 25

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

Individuals on the autism spectrum face significant challenges in the justice system, particularly during forensic interviews and courtroom testimony. This session examines the disclosure process – from initial interview to trial – offering evidence-based strategies to reduce communication deficits and suggestibility. Participants will learn techniques for adapting interviews to address sensory sensitivities, processing differences, and alternative communication methods, ensuring accurate and confident testimony. The session also covers courtroom preparation and multidisciplinary collaboration models to support neurodivergent individuals while maintaining legal integrity. Attendees will gain practical tools to promote meaningful access to the justice system for vulnerable populations through evidence-based practices.

Music Therapy Beyond Music: Building Communication, Coping, and Life Skills

Bayhill 30

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

Music therapy is often misunderstood as simply teaching music, but its true power lies in how music can support meaningful, everyday goals. In this session, participants will learn how music therapy is used to build communication, emotional regulation, attention, coping strategies, and functional life skills for children and adults with disabilities. This presentation will explore how board-certified music therapists intentionally use music to support non-musical outcomes such as improving expressive and receptive communication, increasing engagement, supporting transitions, reducing anxiety, and strengthening social and daily living skills. Real-life examples will be shared to help families understand what music therapy looks like in practice across different ages and ability levels. Attendees will leave with practical, easy-to-implement music-based strategies they can use at home, in the community, and in educational settings – no musical experience required. Resources and guidance will also be provided to help families better understand when music therapy may be appropriate and how it can complement other therapies and supports.

Siblings: You Too Are Seen

Celebration 2
4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

Siblings of individuals with disabilities often grow up balancing love, pride, responsibility, and invisibility – all at the same time. This session focuses on the sibling perspective as part of the whole family journey, sharing insights gathered from conversations with siblings and families over time. Through real stories and reflection, we explore common sibling experiences and practical ways families can offer support without adding pressure. Participants will leave with greater awareness of how family dynamics shape sibling identity and advocacy, along with simple, intentional ways to strengthen connection, communication, and inclusion. This session is designed to help parents, caregivers, and professionals better recognize siblings as individuals with their own needs, voices, and journeys.

Understanding SSI Financial Eligibility: What Counts, What Doesn't, and Why It Matters

Celebration 4
4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) eligibility is determined not only by disability, but by complex financial rules that often cause confusion and unexpected denials. This session provides a clear, practical overview of SSI financial eligibility, focusing on how income and resources are evaluated and how common misunderstandings can impact benefits. Attendees will learn about: the difference between earned and unearned income for SSI purposes; what counts as a resource and what is excluded; how financial eligibility affects benefit amounts and ongoing eligibility; and common financial mistakes that lead to delays or denials. This presentation is designed for individuals with disabilities, family members, advocates, and professionals seeking a clearer understanding of SSI's financial rules. No prior SSI knowledge is required.

The ABCs of IEPs: Understanding IEPs and Advocating for Your Child or Self

Celebration 8

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

“The ABCs of IEPs” is an informative and family-friendly presentation designed to help parents and caregivers understand the foundations of special education and the Individualized Education Program (IEP) process. Presented by educational advocate Terri George, this session breaks down complex special education concepts into clear, practical information families can use to meaningfully participate in their child’s education. The presentation reviews the three age-based categories of special education services, explains IEP timelines and team members, and outlines parental rights and responsibilities under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). Families will gain an understanding of key IDEA principles such as FAPE, related services, assistive technology, and specially designed instruction, as well as how the IEP process continues after initial eligibility. Special attention is given to the importance of parent participation, effective communication with schools, transition services, and strategies for staying organized and informed. This presentation empowers families to be confident, collaborative members of the IEP team and strong advocates for their child’s educational needs. Participants will receive an organization tool to assist with record-keeping, which is especially important when applying for future benefits.

Guardianship, Advocacy, and Independence: Understanding Your Legal Options

Celebration 9

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

When it comes to supporting a loved one with a disability, families often wonder: Will I need to become their guardian? What legal tools exist to protect them while still respecting their independence? In this session, we’ll break down the often-confusing world of guardianship, guardian advocacy, and alternative planning tools in a way that’s clear, practical, and empowering. We’ll explore the key differences between full guardianship and guardian advocacy in Florida, and discuss how powers of attorney, healthcare surrogate designations, and supported decision-making may offer less restrictive – but equally protective – alternatives. This session is ideal for parents, caregivers, self-advocates, and anyone seeking peace of mind about the future. Bring your questions! Whether you’re planning ahead for transition to adulthood, already navigating the court system, or simply trying to understand your options, this session will equip you with the knowledge you need to make informed, confident decisions.

The Power of Story: How Books Build Empathy, Inclusion, and Belonging

Celebration 12

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

Stories shape how children see themselves and others. For families of children with disabilities – and for the providers who support them – books can be powerful tools for connection, communication, and belonging. This session explores how inclusive children’s literature can nurture empathy, celebrate neurodiversity, and create shared understanding. Participants will learn how to use books as conversation starters, emotional bridges, and tools for self-advocacy. We will highlight practical strategies for choosing inclusive books, adapting reading experiences for nonspeaking and sensory sensitive learners, and using stories to build stronger home, school, and faith community relationships. Attendees will leave with a curated list of inclusive titles, discussion prompts, and access to Sensory Friends’ national directory of sensory-friendly providers, churches, and community spaces.

From Waitlist to Workforce: Building Purpose When Traditional Paths Don't Fit

Celebration 13

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

Families of teens and young adults with higher support needs often find themselves approaching adulthood without a clear path forward. Many are moving toward this next stage without a plan, limited access to services or funding, and little guidance on what to do next. This parent-led presentation shares lessons learned through building and leading community-based supports when traditional transition paths did not fit. Rather than offering a universal model, the session reflects on how paying attention to relationships, consistency, and small signs of interest helped guide meaningful next steps. Attendees will leave with a reframed understanding of readiness and encouragement to take small, purposeful steps forward.

Seamless Blend Of Artistry And Academia

Kevin Spencer, Ph.D., is an award-winning performing artist, author, educator, and researcher whose career seamlessly blends artistry with academia. For over 30 years, Spencer and his wife, Cindy, captivated audiences worldwide with one of the largest and most acclaimed theatrical illusion productions in the United States. Their exceptional contributions to the art of magic earned them numerous accolades, including the title of International Illusionists of the Year in 2009, six Performing Arts Entertainer of the Year awards, and the prestigious 2015 International Illusionists of the Year award from the Milbourne Christopher Foundation for their significant contributions to the field.

At the peak of his success, Dr. Spencer shifted from the grand stage to classrooms and hospitals worldwide, becoming the leading authority on the educational and therapeutic uses of simple magic tricks. His innovative work focuses on using magic to empower people with autism, developmental disabilities, intellectual challenges, emotional issues, and trauma backgrounds.

Dr. Spencer's research has been published in prestigious journals, including the American Journal of Occupational Therapy (AJOT) and Journal of Learning Through the Arts (JLTA), and has been featured in prominent media outlets such as the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA), The Washington Post, Taipei Times, and Chicago Tribune. He has also appeared on major television programs, including the CBS Early Show, Fox & Friends, and international broadcasts like CNN Türk and Saba Tümer (Türkiye).

Recognized for his innovative work, Dr. Spencer was called "The Kid Whisperer" in Inside Autism (2013). He also received the 2024 Silver Anthem Award for Nonprofit Leader of the Year in Health. His therapeutic program, Magic Therapy, won the 2023 Gold Anthem Award for Best Innovation in Health, and his educational program, "Hocus Focus," received the 2022 Silver Anthem Award for Best Innovation in Education, Arts, and Culture.

Dr. Spencer holds several prestigious academic and advisory roles, including participating in the faculty of the Pediatric Sedation Outside the Operating Room conference sponsored by Harvard Medical School and Boston Children's Hospital. Additionally, he advises the U.S. Department of State as a subject matter expert on arts integration for special populations. He is an Approved Provider of Continuing Education for the American Occupational Therapy Association.

As both a scholar and an artist, Dr. Spencer provides sensory-inclusive performances for underserved communities and gives lectures worldwide on the educational and therapeutic benefits of magic. His unique expertise continues to inspire and change lives through the blend of art, education, and health.

Fearfully and Wonderfully Made: Celebrating God's Purpose in Every Ability

Rainbow Spring II
 8:00 am to 9:00 am

This faith-based presentation explores Psalm 139:14's truth that each person is "fearfully and wonderfully made" by God, regardless of ability. Through biblical examples like Moses, Jacob, and Paul, we'll see how God's strength shines through our weaknesses and how disability reflects the beautiful diversity of God's creation, not a flaw to fix. Participants will discover their inherent worth, unique calling, and the gifts they bring to the body of Christ, leaving with renewed confidence in their God-given purpose and belonging.

Rev. Robert E. Streater

Duck Race

Grotto Pool
 9:00 am to 10:00 am

Even ducks can participate in active leisure!! These ducks are fierce competitors. One could win you a big prize, and all help out SportsAbility and The Family Café.

Imagine not one, not a dozen, but hundreds of them racing down the water slide towards a finish line where you (and hundreds of other humans like you) cheer on your adopted duck, hoping it will finish first and win you the Big Prize. Prizes include Gatorland passes, a giant floating duck, and more!

Here's how you can participate: During The Annual Family Café, purchase your little rubber ducks (just like the one in your bathtub) at the SportsAbility booth. SportsAbility will keep the ducks all together and you will be provided with your duck number. At 9:00 am on Sunday, the ducks will be placed at the starting line, and race down to the finish line. If your duck is one of the winners, you will be one of the lucky recipients of an amazing prize. Entries are limited, so don't miss your chance!

The Florida Disability History Timeline

A collaboration between The Family Café & The Florida Youth Council

UPPER SPRINGS FOYER, LOBBY LEVEL

This glass panel exhibit walks visitors through 250 years of disability history in Florida and beyond, from the late 1700s to today. Across four eras and eight focus areas including law and policy, sports, arts and media, and Florida-specific milestones, the timeline traces how disabled people built a movement and shaped the world around them. Disabled people built this history, and Florida families have been part of it from the start. The walk ends at a hands-on table where visitors can hold movement objects, page through writing by disabled authors, experience how access has shaped our culture so far, and venture into a photo booth to celebrate how “History continues with us.”

MEDIA ROOM

Step inside for award-winning disability rights films by disabled storytellers. Films rotate throughout Friday and Saturday. Drop by and enjoy some popcorn and good discussion with our timeline hosts and volunteers.

Celebration of

LIFE

love never dies.

Paula Petry, PhD

This session is for you if a loved one has died, and you would like to receive support in your grieving process. Together, we celebrate our loved one's gifts and find comfort in remembering them. We share, reflect, and support one another in our sorrow. We come together each year because we know that sharing and caring together is healing. It allows us to pause and reflect as we honor the lives of those who profoundly touched our lives. For people with physical or mental disabilities, the loss of a loved one can be especially upsetting. The emotions can feel overwhelming, but within the safe and supportive environment of The Family Café, healing can continue. Your facilitator is Paula Petry, PhD - author, speaker, and grief expert. Paula will share her deeply personal and transformational journey through her deep sadness and grief from the unexpected loss of her daughter Alexandra. She has prepared a special presentation, small ceremony, and handouts to help you experience your grief from a position of strength and gratitude.

The Celebration of Life Ceremony was established in 2012 after the passing of Lizzy Barrows, a member of The Family Café's Florida Youth Council. Every year, we gather to celebrate her legacy and the impact she had on her community.

The Annual Youth Summit is a place for young people with disabilities between the ages of 15 and 30 from communities across the state of Florida to come together to learn, share, and network. This two-day event is hosted by The Florida Youth Council (FYC), a group of youth and emerging leaders with disabilities who have a passion for encouraging leadership and advocacy among their peers. The FYC is all about youth empowerment and youth involvement, and the entire Annual Youth Summit is planned by youth, for youth!

The 19th Annual Youth Summit will bring together over 200 youth and emerging leaders to attend engaging youth-only sessions on a wide variety of topics, including transition, workplace preparedness, and post-secondary schooling. We will have a great, youth-friendly keynote and fun activities at The Summit, including a dance party to cap off the festivities. There will be plenty of opportunities for attendees to network, and share their thoughts, experiences, and aspirations.

The 19th Annual Youth Summit will be held at The Florida Hotel and Conference Center in Orlando July 31 - August 1, 2026. Limited financial assistance is available. Attendees not requesting financial assistance should contact the reservation line at 800-588-4656 to make reservations and identify themselves as attendees of The Family Café for a special room rate of $124 per night.
